A Super Start to the Holiday Season

Students prepare to perform at the Thanksgiving Sing-a-long.

Hopatcong: The first graders at Hudson Maxim School in Hopatcong kicked off the holiday season by celebrating Thanksgiving. In addition to an art show, directed by art teacher Gail Sanderson, students performed in a Thanksgiving Sing-a-long, lead by music teacher Kristen O'Shea. They entertained the audience with many songs about giving thanks and, of course, turkeys. Principal Tracey Hensz, the parents, and all of the staff look forward to singing along with their first graders each year. The Thanksgiving Sing-a-long is always a great deal of fun and one of Hudson Maxim School's favorite traditions.
